S.P.C.A. Accepts Weston Plan In 4-City Stalemate

The S.P.C.A. accepted, with a minor exception, the Weston compromise in a board meeting last night. Representatives of the four cities had already approved it last week. This breaks the stalemate between the cities and the S.P.C.A. over terms for the renewal of pound service contracts.

The only modification of the plan is the S.P.C.A.'s insistence that the society have equal representation with the cities on the proposed pound board.

A letter will be sent today to the councils of the four cities by Mrs. Christine Raynsford, S.P.C.A. board secretary, stating the terms of the agreement.

The S.P.C.A. will get the almost 50 percent raise it asked for from the three cities for carrying on the pound work for them. The cities have been balking at this but Dr. Ralph Weston has convinced them that with proper dog license collection methods, the increased cost can be met without dipping into the general fund. On the other hand, the S.P.C.A. has agreed to take on the pound work for Seaside, as soon as the Society can provide the facilities to handle it, a matter to which the Society objected. The S.P.C.A. has also agreed to a pound board and separation of its humane and pound work. The cities asked for a board composed of a representative of each of the cities and one from the S.P.C.A. The S.P.C.A. asks that it have three members on the board; and when Seaside comes in, four. Dr. Ralph P. (for peace) Weston is to serve as arbitrator with a deciding voice should the six-man or eight-man board arrive at a tie vote. As a final gesture of good-will, the S.P.C.A. agrees to continue pound service for the three cities until October 1, to give city councils time to act on the agreement. The present contract with the S.P.C.A. expires today.

Monterey, which has been paying $2500 a year and allowing the S.P.C.A. to collect and keep dog license fees, too, amounting to about $1700, will collect its own licenses and pay the S.P.C.A. $4065.

Pacific Grove, formerly paying $1200 and allowing the S.P.C.A. to collect licenses (about $1100) will collect its own and pay the S.P.C.A. $2663.

Carmel paid $1500 last year, collected and kept its own licenses. Under new contract it will pay (Continued on Page Fourteen)

Here's What To Do Bright And Early Tuesday Morning

School starts on Tuesday. High School students should all report at 8:00 o'clock in the gymnasium, where they will be welcomed by student body president, Dick Williams, and Warren Edwards, principal, who will also introduce new teachers and explain the high school program for the next semester.

Sunset students are to come at different times. First arrivals should be the two morning fourth grades reporting at 8:00 o'clock. Next to answer the bell are the (Continued on Page Four)

Playboy Tomorrow On Big Stage At Forest Theater

Playboy of the Western World, John M. Synge's Irish folk comedy, will open in the Forest Theater tomorrow night at 8:00 o'clock for a six-day run, September 2, 3, 4, 9, 10, 11, under the auspices of the Forest Theater Guild.

Directed by Cole Weston, Mike Monahan and Helen Weston play the lead roles. The supporting cast is composed of Dr. Walter Williams, Edgar and Betsi Pye, Dan Coleman, Floyd Adams, and Gracecarol Kearney. Joanne Nix provides a dancing ensemble.

The only production on the big stage of the Forest Theater this year, Playboy is ideally suited for the rustic setting.

BY DAISY BOSTICK

There was a time some years ago when a young couple living in Lancashire, England, read and re-read Jack London's Valley of the Moon. The references to Carmel in that classic put a gleam in their eyes and a hope in their hearts. Peter and Lucy Mawdsley felt that Carmel, the little village on the other side of the world was where they belonged. And their lives became a saga of wanderings and adventures in the new land until the day they lunched at Ivy Basham's restaurant in Carmel and drove happily down the bumps and ruts of Ocean Avenue to the sea.

When the Mawdsleys reached America a presidential election was in the offing and the campaign was in full swing. Peter says that he found it all very fascinating but admits ruefully that when he applied for jobs he was always informed that he would have to wait until the election was over.

They finally got to Los Angeles where they lingered a short time, then came on to Lebec, a resort on the Ridge Route, where Peter became accountant, general manager—and Postmaster. But Lebec was but a short stop for the Mawdsleys. They moved on and finally reached their haven in Carmel. They camped on a vacant lot for a few nights and then through the help of realtor Maude Hogle they located a cottage and unpacked their bags for good. From that time on Peter and Lucy Mawdsley have been honored citizens of Carmel, and like the few of us pioneers who are still here, they are classed with the old-timers.

This young English couple took roots quickly in their new surroundings and during the growing-pain years of Carmel they had a great deal to do with its development. Peter's whole background was in finance and administration. He was also an expert in shorthand and typewriting and he started his Carmel career in a little cubby hole adjoining the Hogle office and doing secretarial work for the various merchants. He says: "You remember, don't you, where that was? On the corner was Doc Beck's drug store, now Staniford's; then came the bootblack, the Hogle office and Basham's Candy Store, now Whitney's. Peter can probably tell you the history of every business block in the village.

Through hard and conscientious labor Peter gradually built up a good business and became recognized as an authority in matters of finance, including the income tax. Their simple friendliness attracted a like treatment from all who met them. They speak nostalgically of the old days and the friendships they formed. Of Grant Wallace who took Peter's hand when they first met and said: "You belong!" They remember so many tiny incidents that formed the pattern of the new life they were living. Of Irene Gould being crowned Queen of the May shortly after their arrival. Mrs. Mawdsley speaks lovingly of "dear old Gus Englund" giving his horse, Black Beauty, his daily drink of salt water down at the beach. And when questioned Gus would say, "It iss gute for him." Old-timers are still real and very dear to the Mawdsleys. Their eyes brighten when they refer to their old friends, such as J. F. Devendorf

(Devvy), Dr. D. T. McDougal, Paul Prince, Dr. Herman Spoehr, the Leidigs, the Goolds, the Overstreets, Helen Parkes and Stella Vincent and many others.

In 1938 Saidee Van Brower, clerk of the city council, appointed Peter Mawdsley to be Deputy Clerk and Assessor. After her death he took over the office and held it until the next election. And in the past 12 years he has been chosen three times by the people for that very important post in the city's government. When Peter first assumed the duties of City Clerk, the Trustees were Mayor Herbert Heron, Fred Bechdolt, Everett Smith, Clara Kellogg and Gordon Campbell, who resigned when he was sent to China by the Federal Government on an important mission. Hazel Watrous was appointed (Continued on Page Eleven)

FIREMEN ADULT LEAGUE
SOFTBALL CHAMPS
FINAL STANDINGS

	Won	Lost
Firemen	5	2
Police	4	3
Pros	3	3
Lions	1	5

After going two years without an Adult League Softball Championship, the Carmel Fire Department returned to the victory trail this summer to cop the flag after a tough fight from the Police Department. At the end of regular play the Firemen and Cops were tied for the top spot but Jack Montgomery's boys came through in the play-off to whip the law enforcers, 13 to 9. Ken Roberts, a husky left-hander, pitched the win for the hosemen, scattering nine hits and walking four Police batters. Besides hurling a steady game Ken connected for two solid hits and scored a pair of runs. The Champs were behind most of the game but in true championship style pulled out to win in the final frame as Bob Bell, fleet outfielder, hit a long home run over the centerfield fence to drive in three runs and sew up the game.

Chief Klaumann's Police team put up a stubborn fight before bowing to the Fire Department's power which has been too potent for all their opponents this season.

PRACTICE STARTS TODAY

With medical exams completed and equipped with full uniforms Carmel High varsity and junior varsity grid candidates start their first joint practice sessions at 1:30 this afternoon. The junior varsity squad was originally scheduled to start practice on September 6th but Coach Fred Rainier checked in early and wants to take advantage of a few more practice sessions. New to the Carmel coaching staff this year, Coach Rainier will handle junior varsity football, lightweight basketball and junior varsity baseball. The Padres will also hold practice tomorrow afternoon with the backs and centers reporting at 1:30 and the linemen checking in at 4 o'clock. Monday, September 5, all players will report for a morning workout from 10:30 to 12.

King Football pushes out his chest today and eases baseball out of the spotlight in the nation's sports scene as thousands of aspiring football candidates begin practice for another season of the grid-iron sport.

A glance at the local football scene shows that the Monterey Peninsula will be blessed with plenty of pigskin action on the prep, junior college and service level. Four high schools, Carmel, Monterey, Pacific Grove and Junipero Memorial will play eight-game schedules with Monterey Peninsula College taking on a rough 11-game slate. Football near the college and professional level will be available at the Fort Ord stadium when Coach Bill Abbey's Warriors play at home.

Coast Counties Athletic League teams appear to be more evenly balanced than at any time during recent years. Pacific Grove's powerhouse has been riddled by graduation and the Breakers should drop down to schoolboy level again. Coach Schmalerberger still has his All-CCAL quarterback, Eddie Esteban, ready for action, and this 19-year old will be tough for opponents to handle. Gilroy, B-Division favorites to win the title, has a 200-pound line ahead of All-league Jim Fahey and the ball-handling magician, Ron Leonti. King City can match the size of the Gilroy line and packs more speed in the backfield. Coach Clair Burns has plenty of swift on his Gonzales squad and will be tough to beat. Lack of size will handicap the Spartans when stacked against Gilroy and King City. Bob Matson's Hollister crew should bounce back after a rough '54 season. A school as big as Hollister is bound to be a title threat. Although it is the smallest school in the league, Carmel will have a veteran aggregation with experienced performers at all positions. Lack of speed may handicap the Padres but they should have their best team in several seasons. A new-comer to the B-Division, Live Oak (Morgan Hill), will be trying football for the first time and will be a welcome addition to the league.

REGATTA AT STILLWATER
COVE SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Forty boats from up and down the coast (there are entries from San Francisco and Los Angeles) and the inland towns, will be on hand for the annual Labor Day Invitational Mercury Sailing Regatta at Stillwater Cove, Pebble Beach, this week end. Two races are scheduled for Sunday, with another to be held Monday morning.

The sailors will be entertained with a cocktail party Saturday evening at the Matthew Jenkins' home, while a dinner dance has been planned at the Beach Club Sunday night.

Local entrants are Kent Clark, Malcolm McNaghten, Jr., Howard Sauer, Ralph Buchau, Matt Jenkins, Mac Boew, Jim Womble, Bob Devlin, Jon Konigshofer, Tim Condon, Jack Geisen, Willard Bleick. Also Jon Koolwyk, who is a member of Stillwater Yacht Club but lives in Salinas.

Sunday's races will be held at 11:00 o'clock in the morning and 2:00 in the afternoon; Monday's at 11:00 o'clock, with presentation of trophies at 2:00 at the Beach Club. There will be a preliminary race Saturday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

TENNIS JAMBOREE

Pebble Beach Tennis Club will be teeming with activity this week end with the Annual Labor Day Tennis Jamboree in progress Saturday and Sunday. There will be both men's doubles and mixed doubles.

Dr. Kinsey To Give
Free Lecture Here

Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, founder of the Institute for Sex Research at Indiana University, and senior co-author of Sexual Behavior in the Human Male and Sexual Behavior in the Human Female, will speak in Carmel on Wednesday evening at the Carmel Woman's Club, Ninth and San Carlos streets.

The topic of Dr. Kinsey's lecture, in the form of a report to parents, is Sexual Education of Children. The public is invited to attend free of charge. The lecture, sponsored by the Carl Cherry Foundation, is scheduled for 8:00 o'clock. The clubhouse doors will be open at 7:00 o'clock.

If China's Empress Dowager had ever had a place in Carmel, it would have looked more like the interior of Grace Howden's house in Carmel Woods than anything else in these parts. Here is a glowing color print of her, sitting in a far corner of the music room, gowned in a pink jersey dress with matching stole, and it's hard to tell whether the delicate pink in her cheeks is a reflection from her attire or whether it got there in the usual way. Even the soft waves of her light brown hair seem to have picked up some of the rosy glow. She is presiding over two connecting roomfuls of people who have been invited to convene under her roof to discuss the formation of an Opera Workshop on the peninsula that would provide opportunity for the many among us with trained voices to raise them in company with those of parallel aspirations. Inasmuch as Mrs. Howden was the first president and policy shaper of the Monterey County Symphony Association, it seemed very natural to be gathered around her again for the purpose of launching yet another Euterpean bark on the treacherous waters of public receptivity.

Here is a faithful color reproduction of the music room, before it rapidly filled up with Carmel-lights. (How's that for a word for us, to distinguish us from the austere sisterhood just south of town?) As you see it is boldly accented in red from the great rectangular piece of embroidery on the plaster wall above the grand piano and the red and gold brocade flung over its raised lid, down to those several armchairs all upholstered in quilted fabric of the same resonant hue. Focussing on the hearth on the opposite side of the room, I picked up this pair of globe-shaped lamps in lacy bronze lined with red and so aglow from within that I felt I could have warmed my hands on them.

I had remembered those two tall matching red lacquer chests inlaid with gold carvings from a previous visit about three years ago, and commented on all the Color Added. Mrs. Howden said to me, with a ring in her voice: "I had all this red put in when Eisenhower was elected. I just had to give vent to my joy!"

This man with the horn-rimmed eyes in the sensitive face is Franklin (Brewsie) Brewer, and he is showing Louise and Gilbert Boyer letters to Mrs. Howden from Mamie Doud Eisenhower and (hold on to your chairs) Winston Churchill. These were in response to appreciative epistles written to them on their birthdays. In the one to the First Lady, our First Lady of the Symphony had told her about the emergence of ours in the community, eliciting a reply from Mamie on the value of such a group, and her heartfelt approval and best wishes. Brewsie is none other than the original of Gertrude Stein's book "Brewsie and Willy". So, Brewsie is a Brewsie. He is also a librettist, with a lively interest in seeing this diamond horseshoe forged, even if it must be a simple rhinestone model to begin with.

Talking to an exquisite black lacquer daybedful of people is Canon Charles Dowdell, a man called Peter by his imposing total of devoted friends, and one of the best friends Music ever had. The boards of the Bach Festival, Symphony, and Musical Art Club all claim his subdivided attention, and, with warm, humorous, hospitable Frances Dowdell, he is musical soiree-provider of the first magnitude in their Hatton Fields home, melodiously labelled "Woodwind."

Anne Grant

The death of Miss Anne Sofia Grant, at the age of 93, occurred on Saturday in the San Jose rest home where she had been a patient for the past five years.

Born in Oakland on July 27, 1862, Miss Grant was an architect and was associated for many years with the New York firm of Grosvenor, Attebury. Following her retirement she came to Carmel and was a resident of the community for 25 years, making her home in Hatton Fields in the house which she had designed and built. Her sister, Miss Mary Grant, made her home with her until her death in 1948.

During the years which Miss Grant lived in Carmel she was active in Red Cross work and a member of All Saints' Episcopal Church. Both she and her sister belonged to the Peninsula Garden Club.

No close relatives survive. Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon in All Saints' Church, the Reverend Angus Dun, Jr. officiating. Burial took place in Cemetery El Encinal, Monterey.

Donations in memory of Miss Grant may be made to the Flood Relief Fund of Carmel Chapter, American Red Cross, by those who so desire.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

We are all happy that the summer Saturday morning story hours were so well attended. Many of the children were visitors to the area. We have decided to continue the story hours for a time, at least. If enough Carmel children still come to them after school begins, we shall be happy to keep the thing going. However, if it turns out that the majority of the regular attendants were visitors, and a continuance of the program does not meet a need, the story hours will be discontinued. So for the present, the story hours will be held at 10:30 o'clock on Saturday mornings, as usual. We shall let you know if any changes occur in the schedule.

We at the library are looking forward to the opening of school with mixed emotions. Our staff is composed entirely of women who have raised or are raising their own children and it just happens that we all like children and young people. We regard the young people of today as the adult library users of tomorrow, and we are horror stricken at the idea that we might alienate them from the library by too strict discipline or too much hush-hush routine. On the other hand, too many young people come to the library in the evenings with no particular idea of studying, and so they make too much noise, and thump about the building, disturbing the adult readers. Some young people come regularly after school to wait for parents or friends who give them transportation home, and they make just enough commotion to disturb everyone around them. This problem is common to most public libraries. The library staff has a feeling of defeat when any child has to be refused further library privileges or is asked to leave the building. We are hoping that by working closely with school authorities and the Student Council, much disturbance can be avoided. It may be, too, that parents of children who use the library for study, can aid the library staff in this problem.

Since we are speaking of library problems, this might be a good time to mention the reserve requests on new fiction. We have been putting it out on the examination shelves each week for about a month of weeks, and for those who come into the library regularly, it seems to be a good idea. But each book gets its quota of names and for the following weeks it never hits the new book shelves. It's gone all the time. Others, who missed it during its introductory week, never know we have it. We have on order at this time a new visible record file, which will be kept near the loan desk after it has been received. In this file will be listed all the books on order and all new books received over recent months. This new record file will be coming soon and should be functioning very soon after arrival. Be watching for it and learn to use it and depend upon it for information about books on order and recent arrivals.

eighth graders at 8:45. All the rest of the pupils are to come at 9:00 o'clock except for Mrs. Stohr's afternoon fourth grade which starts its day at 12:30 in the afternoon.

On Tuesday all River School pupils are due to start their minimum day at 8:00 o'clock and finish at 11:40. On Wednesday River will operate on split session schedule with the first group of children arriving at 8:00 o'clock and leaving at 12:40. The second group arrives at 12:00 o'clock and goes home at 3:40. No lunches will be served until the school is operating on a full day schedule for all students. The split sessions at River and Sunset are necessary because the new building at River School is not yet completed. The contract calls for completion by September 20, or the contractor must pay the school system a penalty of $50 a day, so it is expected that the split session schooling will continue for not more than two weeks.

Woods School pupils are all expected to arrive at 9:00 o'clock.

Big kids will go over the hill to Monterey College to register between 8:00 o'clock in the morning and 4:00 in the afternoon. They don't have to start going to classes until Wednesday. New students who haven't already taken and passed subject A should take the test at the college Saturday at 10:00 o'clock, Room L-10, bringing along a loaded fountain pen.

Howard Veit

The unexpected death of Howard Veit, 63, retired textile industrialist and civic leader, from a heart attack took place on Tuesday morning in his Pebble Beach home. He had been aware of his heart condition for some years, but, in spite of this knowledge, allowed himself little respite from his community service duties. Only the day before his death he had attended the Salvation Army luncheon to help launch their current campaign for funds.

Mr. Veit came to the peninsula 15 years ago from New York upon retirement from a distinguished career in the field of textile manufacturing.

The Veit family had spent two summers on the peninsula before establishing their permanent home here in 1941. During the time that Mr. Veit lived on the Monterey Peninsula he was active with the American Red Cross, an interest which he developed during his New York residence. He was a strong supporter of the Monterey USO, the Republican party, particularly Republicans Rejuvenated. Due to his service as a navy fireman in World War I, Mr. Veit was a member of the American Legion. He organized the testimonial dinners given to Monsignor O'Connell and Corum Jackson and was a member of the Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

His interest in local art led to his establishing the Guild of California Artists, one of the Laurette Veit Enterprises, Inc. He was instrumental in having the work of five peninsula artists used for drapery textile designs by the Seneca Textile Company, and spent considerable time encouraging other local painters to enter this field.

In 1947 Howard Veit was called to Germany as chief of the German textile industries to re-organize this field for the bi-party Military Government of Germany. He moved with his family to Frankfurt, but in July 1948, a heart attack forced him to return to this country. However, during his year's work in Germany he had increased the output of the industry 50 per cent. High praise was given him at this time by General Lucius Clay, Major-General C. C. Adcock and the German Textile Exporters Association.

Howard Veit was born in New York City on February 19, 1892. He married Laurette Bennett on January 3, 1933, by whom he is survived, as well as three children, a son, Howard Veit, Jr., and two daughters, Nancy and Patricia.

Rosary will be said tonight at the Dorney and Farlinger Funeral Home and funeral services will be held at the same place at 10:00 o'clock tomorrow morning.

CATHOLIC SCHOOLS OPEN FOR FALL TERM TUESDAY

Junipero Serra School opens its doors for this year on Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock for a half day session ending at 11:45. On Wednesday regular school hours will prevail.

Santa Catalina School for Girls in Monterey will convene classes on Tuesday morning at 9:00 o'clock with a capacity enrollment. There are 110 pupils enrolled in the grammar school division of Santa Catalina and 101 girls in the high school department.

Blood Bank Is Not For The Red Cross

By Helen Heavey

The Bloodmobile will be in Carmel again on September 8. That statement is now being taken for granted and largely ignored, as the Bloodmobile has been coming here every three months since 1953.

Most people think that the Red Cross is asking for blood again. Nothing could be farther from the truth.

The Monterey County Medical Society is asking for blood for you, and the Red Cross is simply acting as its agent, by legal contract, to collect the blood. The Monterey County Medical Society is composed of local doctors who take care of you. All of them know the value of a pint of blood in cases of surgery and accident. They know it sometimes makes the difference between living and dying.

Your doctor doesn't have time to solicit a pint of blood FOR you or FROM you. He has asked the Red Cross to do it for him.

The American Medical Association has figured that we should collect 35 pints of blood for every thousand people living here. That means we should collect around 280 pints every time the Bloodmobile comes. The best we have ever done is 110 pints.

Consider seriously, please, the blood your doctors need quickly should you be involved in an accident, or require an emergency operation. Your Carmel Red Cross stands ready to help your doctor by making your donation of a pint of blood a comfortable, painless and pleasant experience for you. Your cooperation in this community effort will benefit someone tremendously, and it might be you, or yours.

Edith Bird

Word was received in Carmel this week of the death of Mrs. Edith Johnston Bird in Andover, Massachusetts, rest home.

Mrs. Bird ended a 12 year residence period in Carmel two years ago when she left with her son, Johnston Bird, to make her home with him in Andover. She came to live in Carmel following the death of her sister, Mrs. Alice Comings, and during the time which Mrs. Bird lived in Carmel she occupied

Mrs. Comings former home at Santa Lucia Street and Rio Road. In addition to her son, Mrs. Bird is survived by two grandchildren, Susan and Nicholas Bird of Andover.

LUBA SHAROFF

In her incomparable one-woman
theatre of characterizations—

"PROFILES OF INFAMY"

An Intimate Revue

H. Sheridan Bickers, editor of the LONDON THEATRE WORLD, recently sent the following dispatch to his magazine: "In my half-century of play reviewing, there have been scarcely half a dozen actresses able to present an entire one-woman theatre such as that I saw last night in San Francisco. America has had Ruth Draper and Cornelia Otis Skinner; Britain her immortal Ellen Terry; while France has her ever-expressive and incomparable Piaf. But in lovely Luba Sharoff her ancestral Russia, her native China and her adopted America have come into an amazing alliance! . . . There are many with glamour, a few with genius, but this new comet of character acting, Luba Sharoff, has BOTH."

Hagan in the San Francisco CHRONICLE, said, "'Profiles of Infamy' . . . as diverting a piece of theatre as we have had around in a long time."

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
O. Edward Graves
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

TRAVELOGUE NO. 5

After leaving Lake O'Hara and making an ineffectual attempt to photograph Lake Louise in the rain, we drove up the still incomplete highway to Jasper National Park. This covers a distance of about 150 miles from the Lake Louise junction and under favorable conditions is one of America's most scenic highways, but we made the drive in the rain and some 15 miles of very bad construction work didn't help the impression.

Occasionally we would get a glimpse of a snow peak, as the clouds lifted momentarily, just enough to tell us that we were surrounded by invisible magnificence. At the Columbia Ice Fields, where the Athabasca Glacier comes down to the highway and tourists may board snow-mobiles to explore it, cold rains and winds discouraged any desire to stop for photography. We reached the town of Jasper, headquarters of Jasper National Park, about mid-afternoon.

The following day was devoted, as usual, partly to interviews with park officials and other business of the National Parks Association, and partly to sight-seeing.

The clouds lifted now and then on this day, giving us an opportunity to gain a good impression of the surroundings of Jasper. It is comparatively low in elevation, less than 3000 feet above sea level. It is situated in a rather broad valley of the Athabasca River and the peaks which surround it on all sides don't crowd the town, as they do at Banff. Mt. Edith Cavell, over 11,000 feet in elevation, is the largest of these nearby peaks and a road leads to its base.

Our return trip over the Banff-Jasper Highway was only slightly more of a success than the first one. I was able to get a few good photographs here and there during temporary liftings of the clouds but for the most part the peaks were under veils on this day also. We continued toward the west as far as Golden.

The following day we did the Big Bend of the Columbia, some 200 miles of gravel road following the mighty Columbia River closely as far as Revelstoke. Here there is another small national park on the summit plateau of Mt. Revelstoke, with extensive views and many wild flower fields, and here your Conservationist on the March will end his summer travelogues. The next day brought us to the U. S. A. in Washington on old familiar ground.

Jose Stevens

Mrs. Jose Edna Stevens died on Monday morning in a Salinas hospital. She had been a resident of Carmel since 1947, first being associated with Allen Knight in the real estate business, and for the last four years co-manager with her sister, Mrs. Elsie Baltzley, of the Sun Dial Court Apartments in Carmel.

Mrs. Stevens was born in Washington, D.C., on December 10, 1893. Her husband, Ross Gale Stevens, died in 1941.

Survivors, in addition to Mrs. Baltzley, are three nieces, Mrs. Richard Boise of Bellevue, Washington; Mrs. George Kenneth Brigham of St. Charles, Illinois, and Mrs. Richard Eldred of Pacific Grove.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon in the Paul Chapel followed by inurnment in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium.

Friends wishing to make contributions to Mrs. Stevens' memory are asked to do so in the form of donations to the Blood Bank Program of the Monterey Bay Chapter of the American Red Cross.

ART AND CRAFTS POPULARITY AWARDS

Adults and children voting for the picture they liked best in the art exhibition at the fair cast 882 ballots for Jesse Conant's Pink Slippers, the winner. Leslie Emery's Street Vendor was second in the popularity contest.

Larry Cunningham's mermaid on driftwood won the crafts popularity award.

Dr. Donald M. Petersen, Carmel chiropractor, has announced the association of Dr. John De Aragon (above), in his offices at Dolores and Fifth.

Dr. De Aragon, a graduate of Ratledge Chiropractic College in 1947, attended post graduate classes at the Los Angeles College of Chiropractic in 1948 and served his internship at the Spears Hospital in Denver, Colorado. A field research investigator, Dr. De Aragon participated in the longevity research program at Spears, and recently returned from Puerto Rico, where he examined one of the world's oldest living human beings, reputed to be 140 years of age.

He has received specialized training in spastic paralysis and cerebral palsy work, and is also highly qualified in the field of nutrition, having studied under the tutelage of Dr. George Wilson, writer and nutritional authority.

Guests Of The Loftons

Recollections of college days and army service are occupying a good deal of the time of Dr. and Mrs. H. T. Swedenberg and Richard and Nancy Lofton this week. The Swedenbergs, with their daughter, Anne, have come from Los Angeles for a week to renew a friendship which started when Libby (Mrs. Swedenberg) was Nancy Lofton's first English teacher at Salem College in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. When Nancy went on to the University of North Carolina, Tom (Dr. Swedenberg) was a member of the same class graduating with her in 1938. Then in the early days of the war (1942-44) the Loftons were stationed at Camp Tyson in Tennessee, and so were the Swedenbergs. At this time Dick and Tom were members of the Barrage Balloon Corps. Their paths separated, Dick came to Fort Ord, Nancy followed him, and the Loftons decided to remain in Carmel after the war. Meantime the Swedenbergs came to Los Angeles where Dr. Swedenberg is professor of English at the University of California at Los Angeles. Last year Mrs. Swedenberg and Nancy met briefly in Carmel and made tentative plans for this week's reunion, and a full exploration of Carmel.

Patricia Gardiner Arrives

Tom and John Gardiner have a sister, Patricia, who arrived at the Monterey Hospital August 24. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. John C. Gardiner of Pebble Beach; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Gardiner of Philadelphia, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Seymour of Wichita, Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Salz Leave

Mr. and Mrs. Ansley K. Salz left this week for their home in San Francisco after a summer spent in Carmel, as is their annual custom. This year they occupied the Kathryn Bradley home on Mountain View and Santa Fe streets during their stay. Both Mr. and Mrs. Salz are keenly interested in music and art, and enthusiastic supporters of local enterprise in this respect, having attended the Bach Festival for many years and purchased work of local artists for San Francisco museums. Mr. Salz is the owner of the nationally known Salz tannery in Santa Cruz which has become famous for its fine leatherwork.

Back From Santa Barbara

Mr. and Mrs. John Zellhoefer of Carmel Highlands and their sons, John and Jerry, returned last week from a two-day stay in Santa Barbara. Purpose of the visit was to see the University of California campus in the southern city. John, who graduated from Carmel High last June, will enroll in the school on September 11, planning to major in economics. The Zellhoefer report that although "there are still bulldozers digging up parts of the campus" the site and accommodations are thrilling.

Beach Club Party

Everybody had fun Friday night when the "younger bunch" gathered at the Beach Club, Pebble Beach, for one of their summer parties.

Mrs. Hamilton Married

On Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in St. John's Chapel at Del Monte, Mrs. Edith Kingsley Hamilton and Dr. Ernest Kenneth Stratton were married by the Reverend Bernard Lovgren in a simple ceremony witnessed only by Mrs. Hamilton's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Kvenild, and her granddaughter, Robin Kvenild, all of Carmel.

Dr. Stratton's daughter, Mrs. William R. Gargiulo, Jr., of Honolulu, and his son, Bruce, a member of the State Department, who is at present stationed in Trinidad, were unable to be present at the marriage.

Dr. and Mrs. Stratton are making their home on Portola Road in Carmel. Dr. Stratton retired to Carmel two years ago after 28 years of practice as a dermatologist in San Francisco. He now maintains a limited practice in Carmel.

Shower For Marion Shefik

The Remo Scardigli home was decorated in pastel colors for the surprise shower which was given Marion Shefik last week by the women in the Carmel Craft Studios, and the buffet table was centered with a large stork. Mrs. Shefik, who won two prizes, at the Monterey County Fair last week for her leather work, is the wife of Mustafa Shefik, Turkish instructor at the Army Language School. The guests all came with gifts, many of them examples of the work which they do and display at the center.

During the evening appropriate clippings were cut from the magazines supplied by the hostess and a scrap book of serious and frivolous advice for Mrs. Shefik, who is expecting her first child, was compiled. Those who helped prepare the volume were the hostess, Mrs. Scardigli, Mrs. Fred Klepich, Mrs. August Nieto, Mrs. Anthony Klepich, Mrs. Robert Stephenson, Mr. Harold Dickey, Mrs. Kenneth Ormsby, Mrs. Gilbert Boyer, Mrs. Cuth Walker, Mrs. Clarence Bates, Mrs. Adrienne Engle, Mrs. Frank Bell, Mrs. John B. Westover, Mrs. Julius MacPherson, Mrs. B. B. Simpson, Mrs. Erica Franke, Mrs. Leslie Emery, Mrs. Hilda Moulthrop, Mrs. Laura Hoffman, Mrs. Phil McGuire, Mrs. Jack Nielsen, Miss Babs Balzer, Miss Janet Redding and Miss Alice Alcutt.

Mrs. Jervey in House and Garden

The September issue of House and Garden contains the first installment of Caribbean Cookbook by Phyllis Pulliam Jervey, daughter of the late William Ellis Pulliam and Mrs. Pulliam of Carmel. Mrs. Jervey is the wife of Colonel W. W. Jervey. The Jerveys have recently returned from a three-year tour of duty in Germany and spent last winter in Carmel with Mrs. Jervey's mother. Another installment of Mrs. Jervey's book on Creole cookery will appear in a later issue of the magazine.

New Teacher at R.L.S.

Arnold A. Bowhay, Jr., formerly principal and associate superintendent of the Beverly Hills High School District, has been appointed to the faculty of the Robert Louis Stevenson School as head of the Science Department.

Mr. Bowhay, who lives with his wife in Pebble Beach, will direct the science program and teach the high school physics and chemistry classes.

Audubon Meeting Friday

Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society will hold its first meeting after the summer recess Friday night at 8:00 o'clock in the Carmel High School Library. Reports on their experiences in Audubon Camp will be given by Mrs. Edith Thatcher, Mrs. Agnes King and Mr. W. Ramey Drake who attended the summer assembly at Norden in the Sierra. Mrs. John Moon went to the first session of the new camp in Wyoming.

Abbott Silva will announce the screen tour program which opens November 4 with Rhapsody in Bluegrass, a tour of the meadows, woods and mountains of Kentucky.

Carmel Foundation Notes

A classical piano program by Mary Terrell Giesting will be the entertainment at Town House on Wednesday afternoon, starting at 3:00 o'clock and followed by tea. Today Charlotte Morton will hang an exhibit of her work at Town House. The show will remain on the walls for the rest of this month. On Tuesday afternoon Miss Morton will receive all those interested in her work at the tea hour. Town House will be closed on Labor Day.

Woman's Club Program

First meeting this year of the Carmel Woman's Club will be held on October 3 when the speaker will be Richard Armour, whose witty light verse appears regularly in a wide variety of magazines. He has chosen to discuss a man's eye view of women, titling his talk, It All Started With Eve.

Programs have been arranged for the year by Mrs. Rhea Diveley, president of the club and Mrs. H. C. Schroeder, program chairman, in collaboration with Dr. Albert Rappaport, founder and director of Town Hall in San Francisco.

New officers for the Carmel Woman's Club, besides Mrs. Diveley and Mrs. Schroeder, who is first vice-president as well as program chairman, are Mrs. Edward Hicks, second vice-president and membership chairman; Mrs. Carl E. Menneken, treasurer; Mrs. H. V. Woodruff, recording secretary; Mrs. Ian Belangee, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Fanchon Z. Freeman, publicity; Mrs. Thorton Allen, card section; Mrs. Sinclair McClellan, book section; Mrs. Glen P. Mason, house and garden; Mrs. Alexander W. Cleary, ways and means; Mrs. E. B. Beecher, hospitality; Mrs. Mildred Curti, house chairman; Mrs. Mabel Clair Stark, librarian and Mrs. Walter C. Adams, rental chairman.

Mary Catherine Brocchini Arrives

Young Mary Catherine Brocchini, who was born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on August 22, is the third child of Mr. and Mrs. Clate Brocchini of Carmel Valley. She is a lucky young lady with both an older brother, and an older sister. They are James Clower, who is four, and Julia Allene, three years old. The children's father is principal of Walter Colton School and the family moved to Carmel Valley in February. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Clower of Wichita Falls, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. Giuseppe Brocchini of Oakland. Helping Mrs. Brocchini with the three children at present is her aunt, Mrs. Fern Crowley of Inglewood.

Beulah Scott Wins Prizes

Carmel prize winning at the fair was not confined to arts, crafts and flowers. Beulah Scott received second prize for her canned fruit and first for her vegetables, in the special contest sponsored by Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corporation, the fruit jar people. Fruit jars, quart size and in dozen and two dozen lots, were the prizes.

Pearsons Have Busy Weekends

Dr. Charles N. Pearson spent the weekend before last in San Jose where he attended the visual work shop conducted by the California Optometric Association, which meant classes all day. Last weekend he and Mrs. Pearson entertained Dr. Pearson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hintz of Tracy, and their two daughters, Mrs. Allene Wright and Miss Helene Hintz. The Hintz family were busy showing their horses at the Monterey County Fair. Also a member of the party at the Pearsons was Dr. Pearson's mother, Mrs. Louise Pearson, from Tracy.

New Students at High School

Registration has been going on all week for new students at Carmel High School. So far those who have filled out the necessary papers for admission are David Grimes from Beaumont, Texas; Michael Mahr, a transfer from Monterey; George Quick of Fort Leavenworth, Texas, all freshmen. New sophomores are Thomas Peyton, Arlington, Virginia; Michael Gahagan, Monterey, and Lillian Hagers from La Habra, California. Additions to the junior class are Shirley Cutler, Lafayette; Als Anderson, Sacramento; Kay Wilson, Palo Alto, all Californians, and Diana Burk of Tucson, Arizona.

Ruster Family In New Home

When Peter and Heidi Ruster returned last week from attending Forest Hills summer camp school they found they had a new home. During their absence their parents had moved into the Donahoe house, which they have purchased, at Atherton Drive and Rio Way, catcorner to Carmel Mission. The children were thrilled with the new house, and excited to find that the garden not only had a walnut tree and two almond trees, but right in their own yard were growing cherries, apricots, peaches, plums and apples.

Jim Baker Promoted

James N. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harris W. Baker of Pebble Beach, has been promoted to specialist third class while serving at the Bremerhaven Port of Embarkation in Germany. Following his graduation from Yale University in 1953 he visited his parents here and attended the Stanford School of Business Administration for one quarter before joining the army in February 1954. When Jim returns from duty abroad next February he is planning to attend the University of California and major in history.

Coffee Hour At Sunset

The Carmel Parent-Teacher Association will hold a coffee hour from 9:00 till 10:00 o'clock at Sunset School on Tuesday, opening day, in the cafeteria. For the past four years the P.T.A. has invited the parents of all students in the school system to gather on opening day to become better acquainted with one another and the working of the organization.

Stamp Club Meeting

The next meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club will be held on September 19 at 8:00 o'clock in the Carmel High School. There will be an auction according to the president, Colonel Harry Henry. The meeting scheduled for next Monday night has been postponed due to the Labor Day Holiday. All philatelists are invited to attend the meetings of the club.

Dr. Williams In East

Dr. Russell Williams flew East on Monday with plans made to buy a Volkswagon on his arrival and then spend the next two months visiting friends, hospitals and medical centers in Boston, New York and Baltimore.

Boy For Whitesides Family

William Garrett Whitesides arrived at the Peninsula Community Hospital on August 22. He is the second child of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Whitesides who have been Carmel residents since April. Young Bill's father works with the Seaside office of Wilder and Jones. Older sister of the new baby is Diana Whitesides, who is four years old. The family formerly lived in Merced and Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Stucker of that city are William's maternal grandparents and his Carmel grandmother is Mrs. J. G. Whitesides.

Waltons Transferred

Colonel Henry Walton and Mrs. Walton are on the move again, but still in Texas. Last week they left Fort Bliss and are now settled at Fort Sam Houston.

Carmel Portraits...

ed to succeed Campbell. To date Peter has served under 23 council members. In addition to his duties as Clerk and Assessor he now holds the position of Fiscal Officer. In other words it is his duty to keep the city's finances under control.

Peter Mawdsley has always had a sense of civic responsibility. When Charles Van Riper led the movement to form a Unified School District, Peter was chairman of the fact-finding committee. A local paper stated that he "submitted a scholarly estimate of the financial implications." The plan was adopted and our present high school is a result of that campaign. Peter was a member of the first Board of Trustees of the Unified School District and is still retained as financial adviser.

Peter became Secretary of the Realty Board when R. C. De Yoe was the first president. He was followed by Ed Tickle and Peter was third in the presidential succession.

At one time Carmel had a Chamber of Commerce. The people didn't like to have so commercial a name applied to a Carmel organization so they stood up on their hind legs and howled. Peter was one of its members and the name was soon changed to the Carmel Business Association.

The Mawdsleys have a son, Peter, and a daughter, Audrey, both of whom were brilliant pupils in the local schools and were graduated with distinction at the University of California. Audrey chose to specialize in decorative arts. Young Peter majored in agronomy in which he took the degree of Master of Science. This was probably a throw-back to former generations as Father Peter says that his ancestors were farmers and that their love of the land can be traced back for 800 years. It must have skipped a generation when he became a financial wizard, although in his leisure time he likes nothing better than roaming over the surrounding territory. The art of walking was their hobby during the children's growing-up years. In fact they were known as "the hiking family of Carmel."

Peter tells of his two and a half year old son walking up the Mal Paso Canyon to the abandoned coal mine and of subsequent years when the family explored the Santa Lucias and all the area round about. He casually mentions the Victorine Ranch, Newberry Canyon, Big Sur country, Point Lobos and the road to the Cathedral Trees on Mount Devendorf. When Audrey was still a tiny tot she had the honor of cutting the ribbon which opened the Bixby Bridge. Her family and friends still call it "Audrey's Bridge."

I asked Peter what he got out of all his hiking. He answered: "A responsiveness to nature. Business is forgotten. It is refreshing and gives a new approach—a different concept of things."

Back in the hectic days of his work in England, Peter's wife was always his partner assisting him in her own quiet way in all the intricacies of his financial reports. And their Carmel life has been a repetition of the old. For several years she was his office assistant, taking over the smaller tasks which kept him free for the more intricate work in the field of city finance. Not long ago she resigned and is now devoting herself to home-making.

The Mawdsley family stands for good citizenship and Carmel will always be proud of them. As for me personally, I might add that I was a guest at the christening party of Peter Junior who now has a son of his own.

As a parting thought Peter said: "Just try to have the people understand how I value my old friends and how I yearn to help carry on the old traditions." He got up to leave and then added: "I was a foreigner when I came here. I became an American citizen as soon as I could. My children were born in America and I lived to see them graduated from a great American university and for all this I am grateful."

EYE WITNESS ACCOUNT

By Bill Hill

The Carmel Pine Cone moved. The printing equipment was so heavy, San Francisco movers did it. Three men did it: Frank, Hank and Frank.

The intertypes came first. The movers had special dollies to move them but they had to take the intertypes out and push them through the doorway because they are so tall. Four other machines were moved on rollers.

The newspaper press was next. Side frames were used to take it to the truck. A power winch was used to load it on the truck and take it off. Side frames were used to put the press in the shop.

ANDRE FERRIER A LA CAUSERIE FRANCAISE!
Les membres de la Causerie Francaise se sont reunis samedi dernier dans les salons de Monsieur et Madame Edgard Bissantz. Quelques Francais et plusieurs amis de la France avaient tenu a rendre hommage au grand acteur et artiste bien connu, Andre Ferrier, pionnier du Theatre Francais sur la Cote du Pacifique.

Monsieur Ferrier a parle avec chaleur et enthousiasme sur "La France et la Poesie," comme seul un Francais qui aime et qui connait l'histoire de son pays peut le faire! Il a anime sa conference par des lectures, des recitations et des citations avec autant de gaiee et de brio qu'une demi-douzaine de personnnages.

Cette belle soiree qui avait commence par une incursion en Tunisie, en Algerie et au Maroc, a l'aide d'un superbe film (d'Air France) projete en couleur, s'est terminee par des rafraichissements delieux, dans une atmosphere charmante et par des conversations tres animees. La galette francaise a vraiment regne ce soir la!

N'oubliez pas que tous les membres de la Causerie Francaise, et les amis de la France sont invites le 17 septembre a applaudir les danseurs folkloriques francais de San Francisco, et les chanteuses francaises, a l'Ecole Secondaire.

RECREATION NOTES

Recreational swimming at the High School pool will continue through Labor Day from 1:00 to 5:00 o'clock. The pool will be open on Saturdays and Sundays after Labor Day as long as the weather permits.

The Recreation Department is very pleased with the participation in the various activities. The after school and night programs will be announced later.

The Johnsons Open Their Wayside Inn

Loren and Frances Johnson are opening their Wayside Inn at the corner of Mission and Seventh streets today, and in the midst of all the necessary last minute bustle, Loren took a little time off to tell the Pine Cone this morning why he and his wife came to Carmel.

Originally from Minneapolis, Minnesota, they visited Carmel many times in the past and decided that they wanted to live here permanently. Their first opportunity to be Carmelites came several years ago when they established Johnson's Ice Cream Parlor in the location next to the post office, now occupied by Nikko's.

However, as the Johnsons also had a car wash business in Pasadena which occupied much time, they decided to sell the Carmel restaurant and make Pasadena their headquarters. Also they were in the restaurant business in the south.

Then they found that the land at Mission and Seventh streets was for sale and they could maybe realize two dreams. First, was the ever-present idea of living in Carmel, and secondly, owning and operating an inn.

The inn idea had occurred to them when they were in Massachusetts and visited the famous Wayside Inn restored by Henry Ford. Mrs. Johnson bought the book about the old Colonial hostelry and it was she who decided to name their Carmel hotel after the Massachusetts one.

Built in two-story Monterey style, with an L-shape, the Wayside Inn has accommodations that include living rooms with fireplaces, complete kitchens, and cable television in each unit.

The Johnsons have two daughters, Judy 16, a senior at Carmel High School, and Mary, 9, in the fourth grade.

Re-union At McCreerys

Reminiscences of high school days and admiration of babies are two subjects heard about the P. A. McCreery home this week as Lew Earl McCreery, his wife, Ann, and baby daughter, Kathleen, visit with Phil Wettengel, his wife, Sue, and their young son, Philip Foster. Lew, now a lieutenant in the Marine Corps, stationed at Twenty-nine Palms, and Phil, who is a public relations man with newspapers in Ardmore, Oklahoma, were close friends at Carmel High School, playing on teams together and sharing the many other experiences of life in Carmel during the growing-up stage. This is the first time that they have been together as full-fledged family men and the first time that Sue Wettengel has come to Carmel, which she has heard about a good deal, both in her married life, and during college days at the University of Oklahoma, where she first met Phil.

P.G. MUSEUM SHOWS

BUTTERFLY COLLECTION

The Pacific Grove Museum brought out its very fine butterfly collection Tuesday for exhibition through September 7. Hours are from 10:00 o'clock in the morning to 4:00 in the afternoon, every day except Mondays, but the Museum will be open this Monday, Labor Day, so out-of-towners may be able to see the exceptional butterfly collection.

WANTED — Caretaker position for young man with small family. Prefer Carmel Valley or Big Sur Area. Willing and reliable. Like outdoor work. F. G. Craig, 11 Blackstone Court, San Francisco 23, or call Grey-stone 4-6383.

Sydney Hudson Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. William Luis Hudson are today announcing the engagement of their daughter, Sydney, to John Clinton Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Walker of Piedmont, and grandson of Mrs. Clinton L. Walker of Carmel.

Sydney, graduated from Westover in Connecticut, was affiliated with Alpha Phi at the University of California and made her debut at the 1949 San Francisco Cotillion. She is also a member of the Spinners and has been living in San Francisco for the past year. In 1953 Sydney was chosen La Favorita at Monterey's Merienda as her great grandfather was Pedro Zabala who came to Monterey from Spain in 1849 and married Anita Hartnell, daughter of W. E. P. Hartnell, founder of the first college in California.

Her fiancé attended Thatcher School and graduated from Lawrenceville. He served three years in the Air Force and is now studying architecture at the University of California where he is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon. He is also secretary of the Bachelors in San Francisco.

Pat Cunningham Still Here

Tickets for Patricia Cunningham's trip to Europe failed to arrive on time, so, instead of leaving last week end, Pat will depart tomorrow and has had this week to deal with all the little details that she thought she would have to leave unfinished. This "cleaning-up" made her very happy and free to enjoy those months of painting in Italy and Spain.

Miss Pegram Returns

Miss Majory Pegram returned to Carmel on Sunday after a visit to Portland, Oregon, and Vancouver and Victoria, British Columbia. In Vancouver Miss Pegram met Mrs. Henry Patton of Carmel and together they made the boat trip from the mainland to Vancouver Island. After a stay in Victoria, Miss Pegram flew back to San Francisco, arriving on Saturday evening.

Our best wishes to the Carmel Pine Cone for a long, happy and prosperous life in their new location.

Making Jewelry In Craft Demonstration

Next in the Carmel Crafts Studios series of Crafts in Action will be a demonstration of Designing and Making Jewelry by Evelyn and Remo Scardigli, to be given tomorrow evening at 8:00 o'clock. "Design is the most important consideration in making jewelry or any other original work. The very finest craftsmanship cannot make up for an ineffective design." From this premise the Scardiglis will approach their subject, emphasizing modern geometric forms and stressing the relationship of materials. After a discussion of the technical aspects of shell, metal and stones, the finished pieces will be shown coutourier-fashion, worn by a group of attractive models.

Both Evelyn and Remo Scardigli have considerable backgrounds in art to add to their experience with jewelry design. Evelyn, a San Francisco girl, is a painter and art teacher. Her husband was born in Florence, Italy, was a student of the California School of Fine Arts and taught sculpture at Mills College and the American University of Biarritz. His sculpture has been exhibited in many galleries and museums, here and abroad.

The public is invited to attend the demonstration. The Carmel Craft Studios are located on San Carlos Street, just south of Ocean Avenue.

The Time Has Come

By Kippy Stuart

If your gladioli bulbs are through blooming it is time to come to their help. The stalks should be allowed to yellow from top to bottom, which assures their ripening. Never pull bulbs from the ground. Handle bulbs as you would handle a bunch of eggs. Dig carefully all around bulb and lift carefully. With a gladiolus bulb you will find a nest of young 'uns clinging to mother bulb and if you remove those babies carefully and preserve them, you will have a new generation for your garden.

Lay the yellowed bulbs and stalks of gladioli in some sunny spot (where you will find this mythical sun at this season is anyone's guess.) Let's settle just for some dry spot where air circulates well, and lay bulbs there. Leave them lying for a good ten days. Then cut off stem five inches above bulb. Dust with good insect powder and store in paper bags hung on garage wall. Be sure to puncture holes in bags before storing.

September is the time to think of winter blooming gardens. In the east every gardener is getting ready to "dig in"; we here, in this fortunate spot, are getting ready to shower our world with color. Snapdragons, stock and sweetpeas are the three best varieties to look to. There is a new hybrid snapdragon that is dwarfed and most satisfactory. The dwarf variety never slopes to the ground to view the world from an elbow position. And this new dwarf is in the loveliest soft apricot shade. If you desire other colors get the regular and you may enjoy snapdragons through the winter.

Stock is something else again. We all have trouble raising good stock. After years of experimenting I have come upon my own treatment. Stock plays possum but don't let it fool you. No sooner are the stock plants in the ground than they begin to sulk. The tendency is to rush for the hose and give them water. And sure enough, right there you ruin your crop. Instead of relying on water, it is best to shade the young plants for two weeks. Even shaded, the doggone things will limp through the day, but you just go out at even tide and watch them raise their heads to laugh at you. Overwatering will yellow stock and once the plants have yellowed, they are through. I know—I know—that fellow down the street has wonderful stock and what does he do? Nothing but water and water. My reply to that question is what happens to the other dozen gardeners who try the same method? The one-timer is no criterion; we all have one-time success. It is the over-all picture that must be considered, and shade versus water is what's the matter with stock. It is hard as the dickens for me to get gardeners to pinch back annuals. Stock, snapdragons, callendulas and even pansies should be nipped in the bud, literally. Go you and do likewise. Pinching prevents long, rangy stems and insures branching for more blooms. Stock and snapdragon both should be pinched. Sweetpeas, NEVER! Sweetpeas have another system. Cut away all small branches at the very bottom of stalks and leave only the strong, sturdy branches. This will bring more flowers to each stem.

You can't expect any crop without spraying. Winter is no relief from spraying. If you want a winter garden get out that old spray.

Luba Sharoff At Players Circle

The Golden Bough Players Circle will offer a variant from its usual play-schedule this weekend. Luba Sharoff, "one-woman theatre extraordinary", will present her brilliant and intimate revue, Profiles of Infamy, following an exceptional success in San Francisco.

Shortly before the fire which in 1949 destroyed Golden Bough Playhouse No. 2, Miss Sharoff made her first Carmel appearance in that theatre in her Exotic Sketches. At that time she won enthusiastic praise from press and public. Glenn Clairmonte wrote in the Pine Cone, "Once again Edward Kuster has brought an artist to Carmel at the beginning of a great career. Each character she portrayed was breathlessly human instead of merely exotic. The spectacle of beauty was devastatingly unique. Miss Sharoff is outstandingly superior to the usual disease. She has rhythm and voice and timing and suspense, what the psychologists are now calling the Eros quality. We can only predict unrivalled success for her. May she return another year to give Carmel another chance to acclaim her genius!"

Fulfilling the reviewer's wish, Luba Sharoff is again bringing to Carmel her unique art, now matured and perfected.

Her program will be given in the Players Circle tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday evenings, at 8:30 o'clock.

HINTERLAND CHEST CHM.

Virginia Shaw will head the Community Chest drive for the Carmel Highlands area and Frank Andrews will operate in the same capacity in Carmel Valley according to the announcement made last Saturday by Malcolm Millard, president of the Chest. Mrs. Dorothy von Meier opened her office on Dolores Street today in the P.G. and E. building, which has donated space for the headquarters office of the Carmel area.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Man's real spiritual status as a son of God, not subject to sin and disease, will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Man."

The account will be read from the King James Version of the Bible of Christ Jesus' healing of the man "which had the withered hand," including the following passage (Luke 6:10): "And looking round about upon them all, he said unto the man, Stretch forth thy hand. And he did so: and his hand was restored whole as the other."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following selection will be among those read (317:18-20): "The understanding of his spiritual individuality makes man more real, more formidable in truth, and enables him to conquer sin, disease, and death."

The Golden Text is from Romans (8:14): "As many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God."

ALADDIN IN CARMEL

Mr. Winter, the proprietor of THE VILLAGE JEWELER, has received the following clipping, written by a roving reporter who was greatly taken with the array of wondrous things in his Dolores Street shop.

"Aladdin, lost in his cave and putting out his hand to the trees which bore the fruits of glorious color and fashioned of precious stones, was no more astounded than is the Carmel visitor who just happens into the 'ear-ring' shop. It can't be, one thinks, on being told that there is a place whose sole stock in trade is ear-rings. It is altogether unlikely that a merchant would say, 'This one thing I do', and then stick to ear-rings, of all things.

"And it isn't quite that way, really, because there are a few—a very few—other bits of jewelry to be found in this little cave. But these are far outshone by the main item, a piece de resistance which whets but never satisfies the appetite.

"Recently a New York salesman unloaded his sample cases before the doorway of this small establishment. He came as missionary to unknown parts, for isn't Carmel, California, a tiny hinterland village which tries hard but doesn't quite know how? On stepping inside, he fell back, dismayed. 'Oh, no!' was his shout of disbelief. There was no need for missionary work here—not in his department, anyhow.

"The Village Jeweler, whose astute owners have collected all this loot and put it under one roof, literally has the largest and most surprising display of ear-rings in the United States. No foolin'. And it takes a mighty stout-hearted woman to pass up the feast.

"Did your grandmother own some beautifully wrought bracelets of soft gold, with classic designs running through the pattern? And, having had these appraised, have you taken them down to the bank for safe keeping? You can match them here in ear-rings, and at a painless price. Persons knowing the value of Grandma's keep-sakes will be properly impressed at the ear-rings you have chosen to go with them, and you can save the price of an extra safety deposit box.

"Every color of the spectrum, softly muted, is here, in ascending or descending scale, as to hues and shades and tints. If it's azure or lapis lazuli or rose or emerald or amethyst or topaz or gold or silver you prefer, you mention it. At once you find yourself in the predicament of the fellow who likes pie and is let loose in the cafeteria where the chef has out-done himself this day with apple and peach and cherry and lemon and chocolate and gooseberry and blueberry and raisin and custard and currant and squash and mince. He can't eat them all but he's happier than larks in the pop-corn.

"There are whole trays of each color, quite by itself. And these range in style from what you would wear to your Grand-Aunt Emma's tea for the ladies' knitting group to something dazzling for a night on the town in company with six drunken sailors. You accept a lapful of jewels from the trusting soul who is the proprietor and have yourself a big time. All HE has to do is hope your check won't bounce.

"There is something barbaric in almost every female. She 'hates' jewelry, maybe, but when she says 'jewelry' she almost never means little things to stick in her ears. Count the number of women you see who are not wearing brooches, bracelets, rings, necklaces or tiaras but who are wearing ear-rings. That's because The Little Woman feels kind of undressed without them. The Village Jeweler is for the likes of her. And it's worth the trip—from ANY distance."—Adv.

Council Members Have No Wednesday To Call Their Own

Carmel City Council is being Wednesdayed to desperation. It met in special session at cocktail time Wednesday, week ago, to think up some way of helping the Carmel Youth Center in its financial emergency and decided to pay the Youth Center insurance, about $600 worth.

Yesterday afternoon, again at 5:00 o'clock, the council got together, this time in executive session to talk over whom it wanted to serve on the citizen's committee to advise and assist Larry Livingston, Jr., planning consultant, who has been retained to design a master plan for Carmel. Committee will possibly be announced at the regular council meeting Wednesday.

Pacific Players, Ann Fry Score In Molnar Play

By Lindsay-Oliver

The Pacific Players, a newly organized small theatre group, presented at the San Carlos Hotel in Monterey, Ferenc Molnar's comedy, The Play's The Thing last week end. In 1926 it ran for 313 consecutive performances in New York where another of Molnar's plays, Lilliom, also had a long run, and his clever work in translations has been viewed all over the world.

In The Play's The Thing, a prima donna finds that her compromising conversation with a former lover has been overheard and written in as dialogue in a play which she and he must perform before an audience that includes her fiancé.

Third acts often have difficulty in becoming real climaxes, but the clever intrigue which builds it up in The Play's The Thing and its dialogue of amusing repartee, holds the interest throughout the three acts. The group has talent and gave one of the best performances seen in this theatre-loving community.

Ann McElroy Fry, who comes of a family famous in the theatre, played the prima donna, Ilona Szabo, with typical French vivacity, charm and clear diction, and looked the part of an ambitious actress. Her facial expression was excellent, especially in a telephone conversation, though adequately subtle throughout. Her gowns were also very attractive. Errol Allan as Sandor Turai was the voluble playwright and schemer in a complicated part that needed his presence almost throughout, and which he carried off with good stage deportment and much éclat. His pessimistic collaborator, Mansky, played by David Sacks, vied with him in some of the witty repartee and performed his part well. Marie Ellis as Albert Adam, the young composer, developed an emotional climax in the second act that aroused spontaneous applause. George Lowry, as the butler, Johann Dwornitschek, did some of the most poised acting and speaking of the group. He is also general manager for the production staff.

Richard Castello as Almandy, the emotional lover, was funny indeed in his facial contortions and passionate utterances which emphasized the "lightly veiled burlesque of the French romantic theatre and of Sardor in particular". Don Burns as Mell, the secretary of the unseen Count, who considered himself badly used, was a veritable mosquito in his bothersome actions—as intended!

Next week end will see two more performances of this clever play on the spacious upper floor of the San Carlos Hotel, where a French window is constructed which opens on to a balcony with a distant view of lights over the Mediterranean.

Michael Monahan and Helen Weston as the playboy and Pe-green in the Synge drama, Playboy of the Western World, which opens tomorrow night at the Forest Theater. It will be repeated Saturday and Sunday, also next week end on the big stage under the sponsorship of the Forest Theater Guild. PHOTO BY COLE WESTON

MARION TODD ON LEAVE

Marion Boke Todd, executive director of the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest, is taking a ten-day complete rest at the home of Sally Simms in Berkeley. Strain and overwork preparing for the forthcoming Chest drive is believed to have aggravated the heart condition which Mrs. Todd has had for some time. Her physician last week ordered her to take a complete rest and when she returns to her job will depend on his advice following the rest period.

Her place is temporarily being taken by Mrs. Suzanne Armstrong, who has been affiliated with the Chest for the past two years.

CARMEL PRIZE WINNERS IN PHOTOGRAPHY EXHIBITION

Of 31 prizes awarded in photography at the county fair, Carmel camera artists took ten. Jack Nielsen placed first in two classes, action pictures and marines. Ruth Velissaratos won three awards, first and second in the modern category, third in architecture. John H. Livingston also received three ribbons, first for animal photography, third for industrial, and third for modern.

Barbara Mackenzie placed first in architecture; Louis Stellman, second in portraits, and E. C. Forsyth, third in portraits.

$2200 and hope to make up the difference through door to door license collection.

When the contract negotiations were first started this Spring the cities, objecting to the almost 50 percent raise in contract fees, offered roughly 25 percent. The S.P.C.A. refused, claiming that funds that should be devoted to humane work were being diverted to pound patrol. The cities felt that too large a part of capital outlay and depreciation of S.P.C.A. facilities were being charged to pound work, also that certain salary raises were unjustified. The S.P.C.A. refused the cities' offer of 25 percent raise; negotiations were broken off; the contract was running out. At this point, Dr. Weston, Carmel veterinarian, who several years ago was in charge of the pound, offered himself as mediator; met with the representatives of the cities, pointed out that other cities finance their pound work entirely through dog license fees and efficient operation of the pounds. He suggested peninsula-wide $3.00 fee for all dogs regardless of sex, and a door to door collection system.

He also recommended that the pound's financial matters be under the control of a pound board, made up of S.P.C.A. board members and representatives of the cities, and that separate books be kept for the Society's pound and the humane work. Representatives of the cities agreed to these proposals and asked him to present them to the S.P.C.A. Last night he did so.
